TESTIFYING ABOUT MRS. STEWART'S PRESENTS AND BEQUESTS-A DIARY AND LETTERS.

At no time during yesterday's hearing of the towart will case were there more than half a ozen vacant seats in the room. The interesting ony of the day before had drawn many who were present then to return to hear the further testimeny of ex-Judgo J. Lawrence Smith. New laces, also, were in the room, and the interest in the commony was again close and attentive. The witness as again examined by ex-Attorney-General Russell. Counsel for the proponents did not, as on the previous Judge says:

The witness said that he did not knew of any others having been kept by members of his family, that was, such as related to the Stewart fairs. Mrs. Smith's diary, he thought, was purely After examining Mr. Smith with a view to showing that he had not been sincers in supporting, or not opposing, the will until his wife's share of the property had been arranged satisfactorily, Mr. Russell, upon being reminded by Surrogate Ransom of persons arriving from other countries under contract his examination was not strictly relevant, tract for a term of service in the United States, in reply to questions, said that he had be set to the subject of the diar. reply to questions, said that he had kept them future use. Mr. Russell then examined him with view to having him say why, if he thought that the assignment was not absolute, he had made no efforts to take legal action before. He confessed that attacking Mr. Hilton he would have endangered his wife's prospects. He did not wish to make an enemy of Mr. Hilton. He thought that the transfer was illegal, and that the courts would not sustain it. There was no need to push matters.

MRS. STEWART'S PRESENTS. one was to take -ction against Mrs. Stewart as being of unsound mind. This, however, had carried no serious weight with it. Mrs. Hilton had given his wife their home at No. 537 Fifth-ave. This Mr. Hilton had charged to Mrs. Stewart, the conveyance eing entered in the books as costing $110,000. Mrs. tewart had allowed his wife $10,000 a year. She had made her various presents. By the will of Mrs. Stewart Mrs. Smith received $250,000 and a residuary interest in one-fourth the estate. His daughter, Mrs. Butler, had received the house at Thirty-fourth-st. and Fifth-ave., and $10,000 a year. By the will the got $200,000. His other children were also provided for, according to his testimony.

A preliminary agreement for the partition of the had been drawn up for the contestants. It was too long. He thought that Mr. Evarts had made Mr. Choate said that the long sentences contained of Evarts, Choate & Beaman he had advised that no hasty action should be taken. The suit might just as well be postponed for a year or so if necessary. He understood that Mr. Hilton and Charles J. Clinch ere the executors. What they would do he did not

WORKING FOR VANTAGE-GROUND.

"Then nothing that you had known that had oc urred in Mrs. Stewart's life was of sufficient importance to prevent your extending an invitation to them to act as executors?" asked Mr. Russell. There was no invitation whatever."

"Had anything occurred then to prevent your as-enting to their entering upon their authority?" I carefully considered the matter and decided that it was not to my wife's interest to interfere with the probating of the will. Perhaps I used too strong a term when I said a moment ago that I dissuaded the others. I advised them."

You said yesterday that Mrs. Stewart had a high regard for Mr. and Mrs. Hilton. Do you now adhere to your other statement that she was laboring under misconception as to the transfer, with the knowledge the fact that she made no provision for them in life or in death ?"

still adhere to my belief that Mrs. Stewart thought that Judge Hilton would render a fair accounting of the property entrusted to him."

"Did you believe that the million of dollars was ver paid to Mr. Hilton ?" I never saw an account of it." -"It never was charged in the books, then?"

"I never saw it."

"Did you not believe that Judge Hilton relinmade? Did you think that it was charged to Mrs.

"I thought that it had been manipulated some way. I expected to find it in the accounts."

In explaining about examining the books, Mr. Smith said that he began on the wrong end. They presented book No. 5 to him first, and he had difficulty in getting the other books, although he finally did There was a summing up in book No. 5, but he could not verify the correctness of this without a careful examination of the others, which he never able to make. No obstucles were offered to his examining the books after he had once seen them. As for the current accounts of the executors he had not examined them all. The first ones he had seen. He objected to some of the items as belonging not to him, but to the executors. After a season Mr. Hilton discovered that the leasehold property belonged to the executors and there was no need for him to HOW HE SIGNED LEASES.

In signing leases the witness refused to recognize Mr. Hilton as executor. He preferred to call him "trustee, executor, etc." He communicated his ideas about this to Mr. Hilton by letter.

Tests ing in regard to purchases made by Mr.
Hilton, such as his house at Sarafoga, he said that he must have believed that Mr. Hilton was using the Stewart property to make these investments. The witness had observed in Mr. Stewart's will that one million dellars had been left to Mr. Hilton. He did not think, however, that Mrs. Stewart had troubled herself to think that this sum had come from the He thought that Mrs. Stewart had never taken much interest in Garden City Cathedral. His wife had never tried to stimulate an interest in Mrs. Siewart. His judgment was that she was influenced by the great parade made in the newspapers. He did know but Mr. Hilton was responsible for this. He had never communicated to the counsel for the contestants the substance of the testimony he had given. No one but himself had ever seen the diary. He did not know that he was to be a witness until he

Mr. Russell here begged permission to submit as idence letters which had been written by Mrs. Smith to Mr. Hilton and his family. Mr. Choate ob-

Smith to Mr. Hilton and his family. Mr. Choate objected on the ground that the witness was not the one to be examined about them. Mrs. Smith was living and could be subponned if counsel for the other side wanted her testimony.

Mr. Russell in addressing the court said it seemed apparent that Mr. Smith was not sincere in the position he had taken. He began a strong supporter of the will. When the present contest was entered upon he maintained his strong attitude of hostility against any attempt to break the will. When, however, his wife's interests had been established beyond all contingencies he had arranged himself upon the side of the contestants. He had kept a drary for use in future possible Higation. He allowed his wife to maintain friendly relations with Mr. Hifton, who, he thought, was desposling Mrs. Stewart of her property. These letters, perhaps, like the diary, were written with a view to the possibility of a suit. It seemed, therefore, that they should be accepted as evidence.

evidence. The Surrogate said that any letters which the wit-ness could identify and which had been written with his consent would be accepted. Four letters were then handed to Mr. Smith. Fire identified his wife's writing, but said that he had had no knowledge of their con-tents. They were, therefore, not accepted. The hearing wift go on this morning.

The corganization of the German Republican County munitiee, which took place last evening, at No. 12 St. Mark's Place, was the occasion of great enthusiasm and their permanent headquariers, was filled to the utmost with delegates from all the districts. THE FOREIGN-BORN ACTORS.

CONTINUING THE INJUNCTION AGAINST THE PRESIDENT OF THE EDWIN FORREST LODGE. The temporary injunction obtained by Charles P. Flockton against Louis Aldrich, as president of the Edwin Forrest Lodge of the Actors' Order of Priondship, and others, restraining them from applying the funds of the lodge in aid of legislation to prevent foreign-hours action from making conprevent foreign-born actors from making contracts to act in this country, has been continued pendente lite by Justice Dugro, of the Superior Court. In an opinion handed down yesterday, the

That it would be a promotion of its interests to further in Congress the passage of such a law as is proposed I cannot conceive possible, nor is this claimed by the plaintiff. It seems to me that the injunction should be continued pendente lite."

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR THE BELL TELEPHONE. Judge Wallace, of the United States Circuit Court, yesterday rendered a decree for the complainant in the suft of the American Bell Telephone Company against the Wallace Electric Telephone Company, for infringement of patent. Judge Wallace said:

therein were not Mr. Evarts's. As for the second agreement, Mr. Choate might have drawn it up. There was nothing to conceal about the paper.

As soon as Surrogate Ransom had taken his seat after the noon recess, Mr. Russell immediately opened a lively fire upon the witness. He asked him if he could give any reason why he had not consulted with Charles E. Butter in regard to the conveyance made by Mrs. Stewart. Mr. Smith said that he could not. The witness repeated that he had been averse to contesting the will. At a meeting held at the office of Evarts, Choate & Beaman he had advised that no

HE WANTS THE ORDER VACATED. In the Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, before Justice O'Brien, Frank Lawrence, counsel of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad Compay, asked that the order requiring the company to show cause why the venue should not be changed in Hs suit against Ives and Stayner be vacated. He alleged that he should have had notice of the proceeding, and said he was not prepared to argue the case. The Judge postponed the hearing until to-morrow.

TO TRY HUSBAND AND WIFE SEPARATELY.

In the Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday, Justice Lawrence granted the motion of the prosecution to try Dr. William M. Reynolds and his wife Jessie separately on the indictment charging them with presenting fraudulent claims for insurance on their cottage at Flushing to the London Assurance Company. The Judge directed that the doctor be tried first in spite of the protest of John D. Townsend, who, with ex-Judge Hooper C. Van Vorst represents the defendants. The day was spent in getting a jury and when there were tweive men in the box the court adjourned until 10:30 a. m. to-day.

EMILY-6., NOT MARIA, IS THE RIGHTFUL WIDOW. Justice Ingraham, in the Supreme Court, has decided that Mrs. Emily S. Barling is the lawful widow of Horatio N. Barling, and as such entitled to $4,000 due to his estate from the gratuity fund of the Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange, of which Mr. Barling was a member. Maria T. Barling disputed her claim, alleging that she (Maria) had obtained a divorce from him by collusion before he married the other, having been induced to do this by her husband.

GRAIN-WHEAT-Speculation ran on a larger scale tobils Brandywine.

GRAIN-WHEAT-Speculation ran on a larger scale today, and the course of the market was decidedly erratic at times, as a reflection of the West. The buildsh feeling which was developed near the close of yesterday and coutinued later on the curb was augmented this morning through stronger cable advices and free buying by prominent Western houses. The crowd in the pit were very impatient before the opening, and when the gong sounded there was quite a scramble among the "shorts," who rushed in to cover, thus causing considerable excitement.
May delivery opened at 99 3-8c, a gain of fully 1c on the official close of yesterday. Business was very brisk for about a half hour, most marked in May delivery, aithough June attracted rather more attention. The interest, however, began to die out, and the "bears" started a hammering movement, leading to a break of 7-8c down to 98 1-2c on May. After noon the market railied again on freesh buying, and prices advanced 11-8c 11-4c, May reaching 99 11-10c, from which there was a steady decline until it dropped to 98 1-2c, closing weak and irregular. On the curb May sold at 08 3-8598-5-8c. The spot market was held firmly, but nothing was done and prices are more or less nominal,
